

Volcano Erupts In Philippines; Fear 100 Dead

Many Missing on Island
In Rain of Ashes, Lava

MANILA, Dec. 4 (Tuesday) (AP).—Nibok Hibok blew its top "like an atomic explosion" today and the governor of Eastern Misamis province relayed to the Red Cross here an unverified report that 100 persons were burned to death in the first rain of ashes and molten lava.

Gov. Pascual Ysalina, who reported the disaster in the Red Cross here, said he was going to the island to take charge of the evacuation of its 45,000 residents.

The evacuation already was under way.

The governor said he had not verified the number of dead. A Philippines news service correspondent at Cagayan de Oro on northern Mindanao Island said hundreds were missing.

Apparently settlers had moved back into the half-dozen villages at the foot of Mt. Nibok Hibok since the eruption of last July.

The first blast, which came without warning at 7:15 a.m., apparently caught them by surprise in a shower of hot ashes and chunks of glowing lava.

Ysalina said the eruption was worse than those of 1948 and 1950. Sixty-six persons were killed in the Sept. 15, 1950 eruption. In the September 1948 eruption 30,000 inhabitants were evacuated but only five deaths were recorded.

A British account of the fighting placed the number of dead at 11, both Egyptians and British.

The Egyptian government announcement said 68 Egyptian police and civilians were wounded. The British military said the number of wounded was only four Egyptians, but that 120 British servicemen were missing.

For the first time in the series of clashes in the canal zone since the beginning of the Anglo-Egyptian crisis in mid-October, British forces reported taking prisoners. They said they had captured 35 Egyptians.

The fighting shattered the truce negotiated after a battle at Ismailia Nov. 18, in which 18 were killed.

The communiqué of the Egyptian interior ministry, based on a report from the Egyptian governor of Suez, said "British armored cars battled with Egyptian police and auxiliary police for six hours at the town's western entrance."

It said British forces used rifles and machine-guns and "threatened to use mortars" if the Egyptians did not withdraw.

An earlier British military communiqué on the same incidents, said there were three separate instances of violence.

No Progress Reported In Big Four Peace Talks

PARIS, Dec. 3 (CP).—Andrei Vishinsky apparently made clear during secret Big Four talks today that Soviet views have not changed on the question of atomic control.

A western spokesman said the Russian foreign minister gave "useful clarification" of the Russian position but indicated that Russia still demands prohibition of atomic bombs before agreeing to discuss international control.

Vishinsky, he said, sidestepped the question of whether Russia would allow United Nations inspectors inside the Soviet Union immediately after an order for prohibition of atomic bombs.

The group spent 4½ hours behind closed doors arguing essential points of difference on methods of reducing their armed might.

The subcommittee agreed to use the western peace plan and the Russian amendments to it as the basis for discussion.

The delegates decided that if they become deadlocked on one point, they will go on to the next to see how in a general agreement they can reach before they report back to the 14-nation political committee next Monday.

An American spokesman said Vishinsky failed to answer when

P.C.'s Disagree on Reported Breach

Several Progressive Conservative leaders yesterday insisted that all is peace and harmony in the party in B.C.

They denied a Sunday Colonist report that the years-old breach between federal and provincial Progressive Conservative groups had been widened at an annual convention in Vancouver Saturday.

But other party members defended. The Colonist story was "perfectly correct."

An all-day secret session of the convention appears to have turned into a struggle for power between Col. George Drew, national leader, and Herbert Anscomb, as provincial leader.

Mr. Anscomb has long taken the stand that all party activity in B.C. should be under his jurisdiction. He is supported by many party officials.

No-Confidence Vote Fails On Living Cost Measures

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP).—By a vote of 103 to 39, the Commons today rejected a Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion urging the government to take "adequate" steps to combat inflation and deal effectively with the cost of living.

C.C.F. and Social Credit members voted with the Progressive Conservatives.

It was the third non-confidence motion downed in the lengthy throne-speech debate which began with the opening of this fall session Oct. 9.

Previously, the Chamber voted 160 to 19 against a C.C.F. demand for price controls and subsidies and 145 to 55 against a Social Credit motion criticizing the government for alleged failure to compensate needy war veterans for high living costs.

As the debate moved toward a close, a half-dozen speakers took the floor to discuss education, luxury taxes, credit restrictions on automobile sales, the distribu-

Strike Threatened On Defense Project

By BILL MAYOR

Strike action against national defense projects on Vancouver Island has been threatened by the carpenters' union.

Prevailing wage rates and working conditions are not observed by the Department of National Defense, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) alleged yesterday.

The letter outlining complaints on the island projects was sent to federal Labour Minister Milton F. Gregg, union business representative Victor Midgley said.

At Nanaimo the prevailing carpenter's wage is $2 hourly for a 40-hour week. The Department of National Defense is paying $1.75 hourly on a 44-hour week basis, the letter said.

The letter also said the union had been "advised" a construction company engaged in defense work at Tofino is failing to comply with prevailing conditions "as it has been instructed by the department that prevailing conditions will not be accepted."

The 44-hour week prevails in Victoria while the department operates a 44-hour week, the letter added.

Local officials are forced to give preference to non-union men, as it would be apparent that union men would be reluctant to violate the established wages and working conditions by employment with the department," the protest continued.

The union is appealing to Mr. Gregg because it knows that the conditions do not conform with the labor department policy, Mr. Midgley added.

"Should we not get some satisfaction at an early date, our local unions affected will consider strike action and other means to bring this to the public attention," the letter said.

Copies of the letter, signed by the business representative, were sent to the regional industrial relations officer, Vancouver; Department of National Defense, Ottawa; and Major R. N. C. MacDonald, Work Point Barracks.

Major Keith MacDonnell, president of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservatives, said, "It was my personal opinion, after the meeting, that things were in a happier state than they had been."

Wing Cmdr. C. H. J. Holms, a delegate from the Nanaimo federal riding, said that "at no time was there any heat shown in remarks by Col. Drew or Mr. Anscomb."

The two leaders repeatedly stated that they always had and would continue to cooperate and that they had the highest personal regard for each other.

Mr. Cameron said "there will be complete harmony in the party provided Mr. Anscomb accepts and adopts the formula laid down by Mr. Drew."

That formula, he explained, gives "sole control of all political matters" to Mr. Anscomb, and retained for Col. Drew or his liaison man "sole responsibility for all federal matters."

"This is the attitude of George Drew irrespective of any motion apparently passed by the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association, an association completely under the control of Anscomb with scarcely any federal representation, endeavoring to compromise by passing a resolution that federal matters pass through the (Association) executive and not Anscomb," Mr. Cameron said.

If there are these differences between the federal and provincial leaders, I declare my allegiance to George Drew," he said. American Cigarettes.

Another Gordon A. Cameron defeated P.C. candidate in the last federal election declared The Colonist story was "perfectly correct."

Mr. Hagar said in a signed statement which was supported by other party officials, that "complete agreement on all matters" was reached by Anscomb and Drew.

The record is judged on a sustained wind of one hour's duration. The previous record was southwest 62 miles per hour in November, 1942.

Russian Leaders Gather

LONDON, Dec. 4 (Tuesday) (Reuters).—The Daily Telegraph reports today that Prime Minister Stalin has called a special meeting of Russian leaders.

Stalin has summoned four leading Politburo members this week to meet in the Caucasus where he is spending the winter.

The Telegraph says in a front-page story.

The paper says the Politburo leaders are V. M. Molotov, former foreign minister now on special duties, Marshal Lavrenti Beria, head of the secret police, Georgii Malenkov, deputy prime minister, and Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, operations chief for the "Atlantic front."

"With them will be Marshal A. Vasilievsky, war minister," the Telegraph adds. "His presence will be significant as he is not a member of the Politburo."

This meeting of the most influential men in Russia must be on some highly important matter, possibly the situation in Korea or the Middle East, the paper speculates.

Such conferences are rare when Stalin is in the Caucasus, it adds.

Plane Crashes Into Suburb; Eight Men Die

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 3 (AP).—A B-29 bomber with one engine dead, crashed into a residential area here today, killing eight airmen. Six airmen were injured.

The crippled craft moved through five houses and set the debris afire. Only two civilians were hurt.

The bomber, pancaking slowly in its fall, cut a swath about two houses wide and less than a block long, two miles short of Lowry air force base runway.

The fact that most residents were away from home, or were in sections of the homes not hit by the bomber, saved them from death in the debris which burst into flames.

"We were coming in in good shape and I didn't realize we were in any danger and the next thing, we crashed," said Sgt. William A. Zippel, 29, flight engineer, of Baseline, Minn.

Pension Plan Sent Back To Committee

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP).—The Senate tonight withheld final approval of the government's new $10-a-month pension plan at 7 p.m. and sent it back to a committee for proof that the people of Canada's newest province, Newfoundland, will be included.

The question of the eligibility of Newfoundlanders for the universal pensions due to be paid next January, was brought up in remarks by Col. Drew or Mr. Anscomb.

The two leaders repeatedly stated that they always had and would continue to cooperate and that they had the highest personal regard for each other.

Mr. Cameron said "there will be complete harmony in the party provided Mr. Anscomb accepts and adopts the formula laid down by Mr. Drew."

That formula, he explained, gives "sole control of all political matters" to Mr. Anscomb, and retained for Col. Drew or his liaison man "sole responsibility for all federal matters."

Transport, Communications Shot Up Behind Red Lines

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 4 (Tuesday) (AP).—British commandos supported by United States Marines landed on the northeast Korea coast 130 miles behind Communist lines Sunday night and shot up Red transport and communications.

Transport from the U.S. front base and destroyer Tingooy and brief patrol clashes broke out supported the surprise assault across the 145-mile front Monday, on beaches near Tancho, 120 miles north of the 38th parallel.

The U.S. navy said today. In the air war, Communist planes Monday flew far south of and drove U.S. 3rd Division troops to cover.

The appearance of Communist planes over the Seoul area triggered the Reds deep into Allied territory. The Fifth Air Force said it was the latest of numerous sightings.

This was the first announcement that Communist planes routinely were flying so far south.

The Eighth Army belatedly told the loss Friday of Taehwa, an island in the mouth of the Yalu and Chongchun Rivers far up the northwest Korea coast.

About 1,000 Chinese troops in three waves assaulted the island in canvas sampans, canvas and motor boats.

Small boats from U.S. naval units removed Allied guerrillas who had held the island.

The Allied commando raid near Tancho, 25 miles south of Seoul, was carried out during a moonless night.

Intense fire. The commandos swept inland past intense Communist machine-gun fire and turned their bazookas on a rail tunnel and other transport targets.

The U.S. Navy said the British outfit was the 1st Royal Marine Commandos. It reported two men were wounded.

Man Lowered To Assist Dog

A dock worker braved the change in temperature. Winds from the Outer Harbor yesterday afternoon to rescue an "hysterical" dog which was hanging from a rope over the water. The dog was lowered after he had fallen off one of the wharves.

Howard Winter, 2073 Crescent Road, a foreman for the Canadian Stevedoring Company, saw the dog hanging from the rope near the Fisherman's Wharf at Owen Point at 2:30 yesterday afternoon.

Winter let himself down a rope and into the water. Without having to let go of the rope, he managed to grab the animal by the back of the neck and hand him to the onlookers above.

"It was the only way to get at him," Mr. Winter said last night. "I'm just glad it wasn't one of the kids that play around here all the time."

The dog was in such poor condition it had to be destroyed.

Life to U.K. Women "Dullness, Denial"

Life is a bitter, dullness, denial, disappointment and discipline, Mrs. Nancy Hodges said last night.

Harry P. Hodges, retired editor in chief of Victoria Daily Times, and Mrs. Hodges, speaker of the B.C. Legislature, were guest speakers of the Men's Club, Christ Church Cathedral, special ladies' night.

Mrs. Hodges spoke also of the Festival of Britain, terming it a "reaffirmation of the nation's future."

Both guest speakers recently returned from an extended visit to the United Kingdom.

Mr. Hodges spoke of the political issues in Britain. He said he believed Winston Churchill, whose "I was" is secure in world history, "was up to the neck in the mud of his party in 1945."

There is less talk in Britain of a third world war than in Canada, the speaker said. They are getting on with a rebuilding job and not worrying about a war, he added.

WINNIEP, C.P. "Excellent employment prospects" for university students on the prairies next summer were forecast by Fred White, regional superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. Business organizations are already equipping about workers, he said.

Troupe Gives TV Check

A check for $1400 was presented to Royal Jubilee Hospital TB pavilion Sunday night by members of the Gerry Gosley Smile Show, just six weeks after the troupe initiated a fund for the purchase of a television set for the patients in the pavilion.

Dr. F. O. R. Garner, medical superintendent of TB control, who accepted the check on behalf of the patients, thanked the members of the troupe for all their work in collecting the money.

Only $600 of the money will be required for the purchase of the set. The rest will be used to keep it in good running order and as a welfare fund for the patients.

Science Progresses

For 50 years we have used little white tablets—analgesic and pain-killers. Today a new form without the disadvantages of tablets, capsules and bitter taste. It is called "DISPRIN" and is sold at drug stores everywhere.

"Headache?..take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives relief without delay.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Three Nuns Deported, Two Jailed by Chinese

HONG KONG, Dec. 3 (CP).—Three Canadian nuns, ordered deported from China after a typical Communist-style murder trial, might be escorted to the border tomorrow.

A Roman Catholic spokesman here said the three will probably reach this British possession within 24 hours.

Two other nuns were given five-year prison terms.

The nuns were the first Catholics arrested by the Chinese Reds on murder charges arising from deaths in orphanages. Since then, other orphanage missionaries have been similarly charged. Many have been expelled; some sent to jail.

There are about 22 Catholic bishops and 300 Chinese and foreign priests and nuns in Communist jails. Catholic sources here said about 2,000 have been expelled and some 2,500 foreign Catholics still are in China.

Ordered deported were: Sister Saint Felix (Elizabeth Lemire, La Bale du Lac, Yamassas County, Que.) Sister Saint Vincent (Germaine Tanguay, a Canadian citizen born in Nashua, N.H.) and Sister Saint Germaine (Imelda Lapierre, Port-Rouge, Portneuf County, Que.).

The nuns for years ran the Sacred Heart orphanage and receiving centre for abandoned children and unwed girls.

Most of the youngsters were starving and ill when brought to the nuns. The nuns saved hundreds, but thousands died and the Communists charged the sisters with one count of murder for each death.

All five women are reported to be in ill health.

Mr. Lampport, who campaigned on a promise of more federal and provincial help for the city and criticism of McCallum's administration, expenditures, had 55,885 votes to the mayor's 45,076. Mr. Phillips at that point had 49,072.

Youth's Efforts Fail, Companion Freezes

LILLOOET, B.C., Dec. 3 (CP).—A 19-year-old boy told today how he lost a desperate night-long battle to save the life of his 16-year-old companion in the wilderness back of this Cariboo town.

Daxton Laroche stumbled out of the mountains and told how he and his school chum, Wilbert Whitney Jr., had lost their way while on a hunting trip Friday.

Whitney, poorly clad, cold and exhausted, died in the early hours of Saturday morning after they had spent the night lying side by side in the snow.

Laroche had spent most of the night frantically rubbing the limbs of his companion, trying to keep him from freezing to death.

The boys started out on their trip early Friday morning. It was foggy, and when they started home they found they had gone in the wrong direction and were coming down the wrong side of the mountain.

"We couldn't get around the mountain, so we had to hike straight up," Laroche said.

Neither had any matches to light a fire.

"I told Wilbert we had to go on."

T.C.A., Pilots Argue: Five Suspended

WINNIPEG, Dec. 3 (CP).—A week at Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton and department of transport minister, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Hamilton.

The pilots' association said it had passed a resolution at its annual convention Nov. 5, 6 and 7 directing its members, employed by T.C.A., Canadian Pacific Air Lines and Queen Charlotte Air Company, to refuse to carry passengers, other than qualified personnel, on the grounds that they have refused to follow lines and Queen Charlotte Air Company, and have been insubordinate.

The action follows the suspension of five flight officers by T.C.A. as a result of the dispute. A Toronto official said the pilots had been enforcing a recent directive of the pilots' association forbidding the seating of unauthorized persons on the flight deck.

The executive said that "if the company continues to suspend pilots for adhering to this safety directive, it will be necessary to take further steps to protect them from suspension."

Simultaneous meetings of all pilots across the system are being arranged to determine a course of action.

The meetings are to be held this week at Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton and department of transport minister, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Hamilton.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

PATIENCE is a virtue, according to some people who lived a long time ago. In these times, it is fairly obvious that the impatient are at the top of the ladder, and the patient ones are somewhere down near the bottom. The most familiar characteristic of a good executive is his impatience. It is feared by every man. The patient ones are those who endure the impatience of their managers, foremen, bosses. If patience is a virtue any more, it is seldom found among those in the high income brackets, except those who patiently watch their investments grow.

The most interesting demonstration of patience and impatience is between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening at any downtown business corner. On the one hand are those with enough authority in the world to own motor cars. And with car horns tooting, engines revving up as they creep and clutty and push in on one another, these thousands of home-going motorists are consumed by impatience. They fairly vibrate with it.

Without moving your eyes, you can there and then behold patience at its worst or best: the huddled throngs of half-frozen citizenry standing on the corners, waiting for streetcar or bus. Like their enervated brethren, they too have been working hard all day. They too are tired and anxious to get home to supper and a little rest and relaxation.

But they are possessed of patience. There they stand and wait, enduring from the winter wind. The buses don't come. And when they come, they are too crowded, so that the most patient turn away and wait philosophically for the next one.

Their patience is supposed to be a virtue. But when you compare it to the impatience of those horn-toting, grinding, rushing motorists, there seems to be something monstrous about it. You become impatient with the very sight of them, huddled there so meekly.

Confidential

From The New York World-Telegram and Sun

At Camp Breckinridge in Kentucky six WAC sergeants beat the daylights out of a WAC corporal who had testified against one of their friends in a court-martial.

A colonel at the camp marked the case "confidential."

Secrecy in handling public information theoretically is intended to keep the Russians, or other enemies—from hearing information useful to them. So the Breckinridge colonel, we take it, doesn't want the Russians to know that six women confidentially beat up a corporal who spent 23 confidential days in a confidential hospital. And he wouldn't talk about a report that the beaten corporal had been ordered to maintain a confidential silence about the trial.

The colonel also denied a report that the army was puzzled about where to send the convicted sergeant. Confidentially, colonel, the Pentagon in Washington said the army was puzzled, but finally decided on the federal reformatory at Alderson, West Virginia.

This confidential business seems to be taking on new airs in the government ever since President Truman issued that so-called "security" order, giving all departments power to decide what information the public should have and what it shouldn't.

The internal revenue bureau, for instance, has got confidential about some information Senator John J. Williams requested in following up his investigation of that scandal-ridden agency.

Not long ago, the head of the bureau, Commissioner John B. Donlap, indicated he thought the whole series of scandals should be kept confidential. Recently, an army general gave out information which previously had been marked secret when given a Senate committee.

When reporters sought to check back with the general about this, the Pentagon said his whereabouts was confidential. Confidentially, he was at his home in Des Moines taking care of personal business.

Confidentially, when President Truman issued his "security" order he said it was designed to let the public know more about its government, not less. Confidentially, what do you think?

Sonnet on Chillon

Eternal spirit of the chainless mind! Brightest in dungeons, liberty, thou art.

For there thy habitation is the heart—The heart which love of thee alone can kind.

And when thy sons to fetters are consign'd—To fetters and the damp vault's dayless gloom.

Their country conquers with their martyrdom. And Freedom's fame finds wings on every wind.

Chillon! thy prison is a holy place: And thy sad floor an altar—for 't was trod

Until his very steps had left a trace: Worn, as if thy cold pavement were a sod.

By Bolivar! May none those marks efface! For they appeal from tyranny to God.

—LORD BYRON.

Bolting the Whale

IT is a little difficult to follow the reasoning of Canadian life underwriters in protesting at Ottawa against the proposed changes in federal annuities, on the ground that the rates do not meet the cost. Not only is it difficult to imagine the federal government offering any service to the public at a bargain rate, but also federal annuities are far less in competition with private insurers than say the universal old age pension. Having swallowed the whale of paying pensions to everyone over the age of 70 years whether needed or not, why bolt at a sprat in the form of a modified annuities adjustment?

Technically, of course, the money concerned comes in both instances from the insured. With federal annuities that is fairly directly so, provided that the government adheres to its announced plans. For old age pensions, however, the claim has less weight, because contributions in the form of levied premiums will have gener-tions to run before they can match the principal sum required to underwrite these guaranteed incomes. Small as they are at $40 a month, federal old age pensions each represent the earnings of a capital sum of $16,000 at 3 per cent interest, and their term can run for as much as 20 years in certain instances.

What the government was asked to do was to make pensions adequate for the needs of the aged who may be in actual want. What it has set about is to embroil the nation in a fresh slather of taxation for a scheme which is a very poor copy of the American plan of "social security." Canadian life underwriters made no protest of which one has heard, against this "social security" experiment; although it could be shown to vitiate the purpose of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of private insurance in Canada. The current annuities protest moreover is being confined to rates, and they are debatable, but where is the principle involved?

An Unfortunate Mistake

DISCLOSURE by the United States chief of air staff that the enemy in Korea has attained air superiority in that battle theatre comes as an unpleasant shock. It had confidently been assumed that in this element of combat the U.N. forces had nothing to fear and could match anything the Communists might put in the air.

This state of affairs is apparently due to the ascendancy of the Russian-built MIG-15 jet plane, which is proving at least equal to the American Sabre and far superior to the British Meteor flown by the R.A.F. The ironic feature about this is that the engines that power these Russian jet fighters are copies of samples sold to the Soviet government by the Labor government of Great Britain.

As cited in a recent discussion in the British parliament 55 Rolls-Royce Nene engines were supplied to Russia by contract during 1946 and 1947 at a sale price of £27,411. This friendly but mistaken gesture has returned with interest. All secrecy restrictions on these engines had been removed in 1943, but their sale has enabled Russia to give the direct aid to Red China in the substantial form now being unpleasantly demonstrated in Korea.

Equally disconcerting to itself is the fact that the Russians, and thus the Chinese, have had Nene-engined fighters in service much longer than Britain, the home of this particular engine. Even to this day the R.A.F. is not yet equipped with jet planes powered by this engine, having to make do with types now considered obsolescent for most duties.

Russia was not deemed in 1946 to be the disruptive force she has since proved to be, but the military favor conferred on her through the sale of this jet engine shows the poor judgment exercised by the Attlee government. No doubt the air balance in Korea will be righted with all possible speed, but meantime the U.N. forces there are suffering for this unfortunate mistake.

Costlier Mailing to Britain

CANADIANS who have been making a practice of sending gift parcels of food to the United Kingdom will be put to substantial extra expense for mailing after January 1 next. On that date, the special postal rate for gift parcels, in effect since 1948, will be ended and the post office will revert to the regular rate, which will mean an increase of approximately 25 per cent in mailing charges. In consequence the flow of gifts from this country may be diminished somewhat. This would be most unfortunate at a time when the British people are having new austerity piled on old.

Least there should be any adverse criticism of the Canadian postal authorities in this regard, however, it is only fair to point out that the Dominion will not be to blame for the increase. The special rate was worked out by the Canadian and United Kingdom post offices in co-operation with the shipping companies. Some time ago the shipping companies with few from the arrangement, and Canada generously assumed the added cost thus resulting. Later, the United Kingdom also backed out, throwing the whole cost on Canada. In these circumstances the Dominion could scarcely be expected to continue the special rate.

Whether or not the change in government in Great Britain will influence that decision remains to be seen. Restoration of the special rate is entirely a matter for U.K. action, and if the British government were favorably disposed towards a renewal of the arrangement, Canadian participation seems assured. It will be a great pity if some agreement cannot be arrived at, for many Canadian people who would like to go on sending food from Canada's abundance are finding increased prices at home a financial strain, and a boost in the postal rate would fall hard on them.

HAPPY SEQUEL

Sir—May I, a visitor from England, tender my very grateful thanks to one of your citizens who sent me a pair of nylon stockings to replace some which I had lost. This is just one more instance of the kindness shown by Victorians to visitors from the Old Country and I assure you it is much appreciated.

NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE

Sir—Many citizens wonder about this small group of men known as the Non-Partisan League. How are they appointed, and by whom? Is there any need for this seemingly self-appointed body?

It appears these men back certain municipal candidates and at least imply that the citizens should vote for their men.

Have these gentlemen any special qualifications that they presume to tell us how to vote? If they have, possibly the honorable way would be for some of them to stand for office.

If this league wishes to influence voters it should let us know more about itself: its aims, its views and how constituted.

Democracy can hardly be served by a small self-appointed group running hand-picked candidates.

H. C. TODD.

CIVIC RESERVES

Sir—It would be interesting to know how many ratepayer citizens of Victoria would approve of a majority candidate's proposal to them to pay now for civic improvements some years hence, so from a sinking fund so created cash would be available when needed. They, and I believe they would be in the majority, would condemn this proposal. They find difficulty enough taking thought for the present, and letting the future provide its own solutions.

Where these later improvements are necessary, call on the citizens for subscriptions to a debenture issue covering a period of years, similar to Dominion victory or savings bonds. The amounts subscribed for to be multiples of $50, and not more than $1,000 to any person or persons. The advantages of this method should be obvious.

AIR MAIL TO NEW ZEALAND

Sir—As a New Zealander, it amazes me to find that postal rates for letters by air mail to your country, costs so much by comparison with that which obtains in New Zealand. Postage for a letter from New Zealand costs one shilling and three pence for half an ounce, whilst postage charged from your country to New Zealand is 50 cents for a quarter of an ounce. The disparity in these figures seems out of all reason.

HELP APPRECIATED

Sir—It is with interest I read that our own Homemakers musical group may be chosen to entertain Canadian troops in Korea.

In my opinion this group are deserving of the choice. They have given a great deal of their time to concerts at the D.V.A. Hospital, and when the United Commercial Travellers asked their help to raise funds for a television set for the D.V.A. Hospital, Fred Usher, their leader, organized a local talent show which assured the success of this venture.

The Homemakers are all veterans and I am sure they would be well received by our boys away from home.

Our troops deserve the best, and there are none better than Victoria's Homemakers.

W. CHISHOLM.

2626 Fifth Street, Victoria, B.C.

PRECIPITATION

Sir—It is of interest at this time of year when wind and rain prevail, how the weatherman estimates the rainfall at any given period. The rain gauge at Gonzales is constructed on a level back. As anyone would observe, rain falling accompanied by a strong wind would strike the gauge at about a 45 degree angle, so that rain entering the gauge would be cut in half. Again, rain at gale force would be falling nearly horizontal, and what would enter the gauge would be almost nil.

Until a genius comes along and invents a gauge that would swing on a pivot that would react to the force of the wind, and rain could strike the gauge at right angles, until then the present method of measuring rainfall must be simply guesswork.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I SHALL have to say I entered the Memorial Arena without a tremor.

I know that one unfavorable change stays away from this community centre on the plea it isn't safe, but thousands of times this writer seems quite unperturbed by any such doubts, perhaps because they have no electioneering to do.

Our arena, of course, besides being the habitat of those gentlemen we know as the Cougars, is a target for much abuse, although the fans who crowd the benches—and how they crowd them—find much satisfaction sitting therein. And why not? The roof may leak (although never a drop has fallen on my top), the refrigeration may be faulty, there may be cracks in the walls, the wiring may be suspect, but—and it is a big but—a million dollars' worth—it is nevertheless an impressive building.

Once inside it is tremendously impressive indeed. There can be few arenas with so imposing a sweep, and from high up in the back rows the proportions catch your breath. Especially when the lights dim in that pregame ceremony that touches the spirit and reminds you of the fabled memorial which Lam-tan-toe maintains its significance appeal. It is then you sense the magnitude that rings the ice surface, and is momentarily knit in the playing of "O Canada."

And then when the lights go up and the crowd stirs expectantly, you hear a voice telling you the fire marshal won't let anyone stand on the mezzanine, and you ruefully regret the vast waste of seating space and are apt to wish that dutiful but meticulous official would go away for a holiday.

One frequents the arena these days to see a hockey match, but in truth it does one good merely to sit back, forgetting the puck for a moment, and watch poetry in motion. Nothing more graceful than skating has been invented by man, and even hockey players bent on nothing more aesthetic than plunking a black rubber disc into a net cannot help but be satisfying in physical movement. If we saw them only from the knees up they would put the swan to shame.

You come out of such dreamings with a start when your neighbor shouts something about the smell of a skunk, and then you realize the offender against acceptable social habit is that hapless being the referee. It doesn't matter who he is (or, even, what the game is), this friendless individual is certain only of one other thing besides his feeableness. Poor man, I sympathize with him and admire his courage even while almost persuaded to join in railing for his head. Why anyone would ever want to be a referee is fit subject for a psychiatrist. Only if he had extra eyes in the back of his head and never muffed a chance to favor the home team could he hope to be cheerful instead of holed. What a vocation!

And yet while we sit there and rave over his ineptitude if it were not for the referee we would be at home reading our thumb. This is a profound thought. Did no man offer himself as an umpire, and therefore as a victim, there would be no game—no ice hockey, no Cougars, no Memorial Arena, and of course no roof leaks, no faulty refrigeration, no cracks in the wall, and no majority candidate to disregard by flocking in thousands to sit on hard benches, warmed chiefly by the spite we generate towards that wretched figure who drops the puck at the face-off, and then, like a wise man, jumps quickly out of the way.

Nobody ever suggests a statue to honor the referee and I don't suppose ever will. Nevertheless he deserves one.

Gerald Waring

Reports From Ottawa

THE Commons has had its first test of self-discipline in the matter of members bragging about the prowess of athletic teams in their constituencies.

For years it's been customary for every national championship, and often lesser ones, to be brought to the attention of the House by the M.P. from whose riding the winners came. This was easily obtainable publicity for the home town. And presumably the M.P. who recorded the exploits of the Bulltown Beavers for posterity to read in Hansard might find the folks back home grateful on election day.

So everything from Barbara Ann Scott's Olympic championship to little Willie's provincial marbles title got into Hansard—at some considerable cost to the taxpayer, be it noted, for parliament's time is worth something like $100 a minute.

Last year Speaker W. Ross Macdonald appealed to M.P.'s to desist, and warned that in future he would rule them out of order.

But Jean Richard (Lib., Ottawa East), desirous of recording Ottawa Rough Riders' Grey Cup win, lay upon a way to outwit Mr. Speaker. He put a phony question to Works Minister Fournier:

"Is it the intention of the government to follow the recommendations of the Greber plan in the erection of a stadium to Ottawa so future Grey Cup games between Ottawa and the West can be played in the capital city?"

Fournier, a Rider fan from neighboring Hull, fell in with Richard's stratagem.

"It was stated when I learned that the Ottawa Rough Riders had won," he said, "I will submit the honorable member's question to my colleagues of the cabinet and when they agree on some project I will let the House know."

It was scarcely a serious reply to a suggestion which, on second thought, might not be such a bad idea at that. But then Regina would want one too!

INCIDENTAL: Intelligence: Vice Admiral H. T. W. Grant, retiring chief of naval staff, was honored with a testimonial dinner the other night—full dress with decorations, at six bucks a plate. Many of the younger officers could think of other ways to spend $6, but orders were that they had to attend.

Last thought passing through the mind of Alastair Stewart (C.C.F., Winnipeg North), when his rat turned over was "This is going to depreciate its value." It did. Seven flip-overs on rock wrecked it, but Stewart was unhurt. Health Minister Paul Martin, as "tallent an M.P. as any in the House, paid a pretty tribute to Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (P.C., Hamilton West), the only woman in the Commons. When other M.P.'s launched aspersions on old age pensions, Martin commented that "the reason for the applause was not her persistence, but her quite apparent charm."

Martin, incidentally, used to be the cabinet's fat man, but now he's dieted down to a figure as trim as that of tax man Abbott, or that of Foreign Minister Pearson, both of whom he hopes to beat in the race for the Liberal leadership when Prime Minister St. Laurent retires. In the Commons radio committee the other day, discussion got around to "Les Idees en Marche" (Ideas on the March), a program carried on the C.B.C. French network similar to the English network's "Citizens' Forum." But mastery of the French language apparently is not one of the achievements of chairman Bill Robinson (Lib., Simcoe East, Ont.). As reported in the committee proceedings, Robinson referred to the program as "Lazy Day on the Marsh."

To Occasionally Split

(From The Edmonton Journal)

THE question of the split infinitive—whether or not it is lawful and right to insert another word between the preposition "to" and its verb—has agitated the grammatical world for centuries. It is rather surprising, therefore, that the question received its first judicial ruling only last week. After some argument, the judges of the Los Angeles superior court decided to leave the phrase "to completely disjunct" in an official document, one judge who protested finally agreed that "it probably is all right to go and then split an infinitive."

Unless an appeal is taken to the supreme court in Washington, we suppose this is now the law of the land in California, and any Californian who refuses occasionally to split—or to occasionally split—an infinitive will be in contempt of court.

Here, in Canada, we have no court decisions to guide us, and the matter is still one for argument. Strict grammarians have always insisted that the two words which make up the infinitive form of a verb—"to see," for example—are a unit, and that nothing should be allowed to separate them. They have much authority for this rule; it corresponds to the usage of almost all standard English literature, which is supposed to be the final authority for grammatical forms.

Besides, the unsplit infinitive sounds better. "To see him frequently" is much more euphonious than "to frequently see him."

Despite these arguments, this particular rule is perhaps the hardest in all the realms of grammar to enforce. Most of us go through life splitting infinitives as casually as Abraham Lincoln was supposed to split rails.

Mayor on Way to Ottawa On Federation Business

Victoria's busy mayor left for the federation presidency yesterday for Ottawa and Montreal where he will preside over an executive meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

President of the federation, Mayor Percy George will discuss the freight rate parity question with 16 B.C. members of the federation.

Discussion during the talks Thursday and Friday will be civil defense, housing and inflation.

Mayor George said yesterday he would tender his resignation at the end of the meetings as he is retiring from municipal politics.

He added that he would "definitely" be back, however, in time for the elections Dec. 13.

Golf-- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Here's good golf form except for one point which I leave to you for the moment. Notice that this player's hands are high. That is all to the good. The bad point here is that he has over-swing as in "sure" you noticed. It's too difficult to get the clubhead back on the ball from an over-swing. But his right side is straight as it should be. His right knee is not locked. That's good golf form. His left knee has moved in toward his right so both knees are level preventing left side sag. This player has kept his eyes on the ball. He has made a full shoulder pivot so that the back of his shoulders "face" the hole and he's made a complete hip pivot. Very good. You do like wise.

Turkey Winners

Miss Eva Waymark and Gordon Anderson won Christmas turkeys when they combined to capture first place laurels in a mixed foursomes competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday. Winners carded a net 74.

Miss E. I. Keown and Fred Jackson, and Miss J. Newman and H. Kirkham tied for the runner-up spot.

B.C. Senator Urges Lash For "Zoot Suit" Fighters

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP).—Senator Thomas Reid (L., British Columbia) said tonight in the senate that there is growing in Canada a segment of youth who are a danger to law and order and who, in his province at least, have "terrorized" the police.

He referred to the "zoot suit" fighters in various British Columbia cities, particularly with the army in Victoria.

These youths, he said, would be the first to join any organized Communist movement in Canada.

Yet when they came before the courts they didn't get the good old-fashioned lash that has been a corrective method since the time of Adam, but instead got a fine of a few dollars in jail.

He spoke on third reading of the Juvenile Act which increases to 15 from 14 the number of County Court judges on juveniles.

R.C.M.P. FEARED—Senator Reid said he was glad the R.C.M.P. had taken over in British Columbia, because this was the only force with whom the "zoot suit" fighters apparently feared to tangle. Otherwise they seemed to "fear neither God nor man."

He had seen them stage street fights with city and provincial police "in some cases scared to move in and break it up."

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, said the "zoot suit" movement had grown up since the institution of juvenile courts.

Such youths had mostly got a "Sunday afternoon lecture" after which they went away and laughed.

He hoped teeth would be put in the new Criminal Code amendments, now being studied, to stem these juvenile gangs who had made their appearance in various parts of Canada.

Children Cheerful About New Toxoid Four Seeking Council Seats In Municipality

Four candidates so far have announced that they will contest the election for two municipal council seats in Central Saanich. Councilors Robert Thomson and Harold Andrew are running for reelection. F. Logan, carpenter-builder, Vondra Avenue, and H. R. Brown, 85, real estate and insurance agent, Herding Lane, will also run.

Mayor F. J. Macdonald, Vancouver Avenue, will seek reelection as police commissioner. W. P. Turner, mapmaker, Saanichton, will run for the other police commission vacancy.

Police Commissioner A. K. Hemstreet is not seeking reelection.

No candidate has yet announced that he will seek a place on the school board, which has two vacancies.

Winds Cause No Damage As Tide Low

Winds up to 35 miles an hour whipped over Victoria Sunday night but did little or no damage as the storm struck across the Lower Islands.

Huge waves pounded harmlessly on the beaches at Island View and Point Bay, as tides receded.

Thomas Mitchell, Central Saanich road superintendent, said last night he hoped all the water would be off the flooded land at Island View by this morning.

Further up the coast, in the Queen Charlotte Islands, hurricane force winds hitting up wards of 100 miles an hour drove residents some anxious hours up in the storm subsided.

Twelve hundred acres of farmland in the Lower Mainland-Surrey area were flooded when a dike section of the Serpentine River dike collapsed after exceptionally high week end tides.

Appliance Sales Drop By $56,000 for Month

Electric appliance sales on Vancouver Island dropped approximately $56,000 from September to October, according to sales reported to the R.C. Electric Co.

The company report yesterday showed electric appliance sales in September at $212,758. During October the dollar volume was $156,892.

Appliance dealers have blamed credit restrictions for drastically dropping sales, and are urging the Minister Douglas Abbott to ease rules to allow smaller down payments and an 18-month installment period.

Major appliances' taking the brunt of the sales drop in October were refrigerators, of which 139 were sold in October, compared with 159 the previous month, and washers, with 107 sold in October and 153 in September.

Radio sales of October totaled 351. The previous month 363 sets were sold, and in October of last year 539 sets were sold.

Miscellaneous small appliance sales numbered 343 in October.

Carey Named To New Term

Equivalently, Councillor J. E. Carey was elected president of the Dockyard Civil Servants' Association for the second successive year at the annual meeting held in Williams Hall last night.

Also in for a second term is J. McCarry, secretary. Peter Allan was elected vice-president.

Executive members are A. McNeil, J. Harrison, T. Yole, L. Drummond, J. Kelly, Mrs. A. Grant and J. Donnell.

Chief topic of discussion was the question of a raise in salary for dockyard workers. Weeks ago the association asked Ottawa for an increase of $30 over the board. So far there has been no response.

A letter was received from recent fire victim John Dart, thanking the association for its assistance. Dockyard members are subscribing to a fund for the Dart family.

Wouters Loses Via T.K.O. To Dauthuille

MONTREAL, Dec. 3 (CP).—Laurent Dauthuille of France to score a fifth round technical knockout over Roy Wouters, Canadian middleweight boxing champion, in a 10-round, non-title bout here.

Dauthuille weighed 158, Wouters 162.

The French brawler, who fights out of Montreal, was awarded the verdict at the end of the fourth round after a Montreal Boxing Commission doctor advised referee Maurice O'Connell to stop the fight because Wouters' right eye was badly cut.

Wouters, a former Halifax resident who also makes Montreal his headquarters, protested the decision.

Record Stand Givés Aussies Lead in Test

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 3 (Reuters).—A record fourth wicket stand of 235 by Lindsay Hassett (112) and Keith Miller (120) today gave Australia a first innings lead of 89 with three wickets still in hand over West Indies on the third day of the second cricket test.

At the close, Australia had scored 451 for seven wickets in reply to the West Indies' first innings total of 362.

The stand, which lasted just over four hours, was an Australian fourth wicket record against West Indies. The previous best was 182 by Allan Kippax and Stan McCabe in 1951.

These are two days left to play.

Australia won the first in the best-of-five series to decide world cricket supremacy.

Pair Thanked For Helping Stricken Child

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McKenzie, 1921 Ash, feel they owe thanks to a Victoria couple but their only clue to the couple's identity is "a big dark colored car."

The other day young Harold McKenzie, 7, became ill while in class at St. Louis College. He was removed to go home.

Minutes later, still obviously miserable, he was waiting for a bus on Pandora, when the big, dark car came along. The man and woman in it, noticing the boy's discomfort, stopped, asked if he were unwell and going home.

Then they urged Harold to get into the car and drove him to his door. There, however, they paused only long enough to make sure he got safely into the house.

To them the McKenzies and Harold say "thanks, very much."

Value of Home Construction Shows Increase in November

Home building, which has been decreasing rapidly since May, might be on the increase again, according to MacLean Building Reports Ltd.

Their survey of November construction figures showed residential work across Canada in November increased $2,640,000 over the total for November, 1950.

Residential building last month was valued at $46,929,300.

"It is probably still too early for any effect of mortgage loan easing to be shown," the report cautions, "but scrutiny of individual large housing projects entering the total suggests operations carried out under existing mortgage finance arrangements."

Also reported was that contract awards in November reached $157,000,000, well above the October figure but down from the November, 1950, figure of $161,249,500.
